Cockburn ARC to display new technologies

Set to open before the middle of the year, the Cockburn ARC aquatic, recreation and sport centre will be offering two new technologies.

One of the largest developments of its kind in Australia, the new $109 million facility will provide state-of-the-art aquatic and recreation facilities, as well as being the new home of the Fremantle Football Club.

The aquatic components of the facility include a 50 metre outdoor pool, 25 metre indoor pool, children's play structure and three large waterslides: an aqua-tube rafting slide; the Space Boat shuttle dual rubber raft ride and, for thrillseekers, the blue looping rocket slide.

Starting from an 18 metre-high tower, the slides offer a highly visual identity for the new facility.

The Polin Waterparks slides were installed by Swimplex Aquatics, with Commercial Aquatics Australia providing the filtration and hydraulic systems.

SwimDesk Software will help the new facility engage and retain swim school customers.

SwimDesk has become the fastest growing swim school related application throughout Australia and New Zealand since its launch in mid-2014.

The software is designed to help swim schools manage and improve communication, progression and retention within the swim school. The program works as a complementary add-on to leisure and recreation management systems providing users with the convenience of compatible systems with greatly expanded capabilities.
